

VIRGINIA NOTES.

A. T. Buchanan, Esq., one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Tazewell county, Va., died at his home in Thompson Valley on the 10th inst., of pneumonia.

George L. Colgate has been in Wytheville making arrangements to commence work on the new electric street railway, which he says will begin in a short time.

For three weeks past the Potomac fisheries have been almost coining money. It is estimated that more fish have been caught on the Virginia shores of the Potomac since the 15th of December than during any whole season during the last twenty years.

Telegraphic communication between Winston and Madison along the line of the Roanoke and Southern railroad opened at 3 p. m. Monday, and the wires will reach Martinsville April 1st.

The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia gross earnings increased during the month of January. In the fourth week of January the gross earnings were $240,794, an increase of $23,292. For the month of January the gross earnings were $670,211, an increase of $14,518.

The Charlottesville Land Company has closed a contract with Mr. Cooke, of Fluvanna county, in which he agrees to locate a new plant for manufacturing brick in Charlottesville. The capital will be $2,000 at first, and the capacity of the plant 60,000 brick per day.

ABINGDON, Va., Feb. 25.—This town was the scene of unusual excitement last night, the authorities having been notified that an attempt would be made by the notorious "Wright and Potter gang" to rescue three of their number, who are now in jail here, charged with horse stealing and the murder of young Edmundson on the 17th instant, near Laurel Gap, close to the Virginia and Tennessee line. These men are members of the gang of desperadoes who have long been the terror of the mountains of Johnson county, Tenn., and the adjoining counties of North Carolina and Southwest Virginia. Should they come to-night they will be warmly received and warmly welcomed by a detachment of the Washington Rifles, aided by a body of courageous citizens, who have been deputized to guard the jail. Considerable excitement prevails.

PETERSBURG, Va., Feb. 25.—The incessant rains of the past two weeks have made the country roads almost impassable, thus preventing the farmers from marketing their peanut crops. The commission merchants have taken advantage of this situation of affairs to demand higher prices for spot stock, and some cleaners have been forced to pay from 1/4 to 3/4 per pound advance over last week's prices for farmers' stock. The receipts this week have been about 3,500 bags. Sales about 7,000 bags.

The Virginia Agricultural Society has secured a loan of $50,000 from a Baltimore capitalist, which will put it on its feet again and do away with the necessity of selling its property.

At a public meeting the remainder of the endowment fund of $100,000 for the Randolph-Macon Woman's College at Lynchburg was raised by subscriptions. This insures the establishment of the institution, which will represent an investment of $220,000 to start with, and be the leading school of its class in the South.

Both the new steamboats for the new Washington and Norfolk line will be completed on or about the 15th proximo, work on the more advanced one having been suspended in order that that on the one commenced later might catch up. Capt. Sam. Davis, of the steamer George Leary, has been appointed commander of one of them.

A very rich lead mine has been discovered some eight miles south of Marion. The shaft has been sunk about one hundred feet and the ore is nearly pure.

There was an apparently informal meeting at Buena Vista last week of prominent railroad officials, as follows: Messrs. Axtell, Potts, Doyle, Stevens, Dume, and MacDonald, of the Chesapeake and Ohio, and Messrs. Denger, Bryan, Bransford and Foret, of the Norfolk and Western. It is generally believed that the purpose of the visit was one of conference with reference to the new union depot which the Norfolk and Western contemplate building.

Mrs. Alice Mayo Carrington, wife of Mr. G. W. Carrington, and daughter of the late William I. Mayo, died at her residence in Ashland, Wis., last Friday. Mrs. Carrington was well known in Richmond and Ashland, Va., where she lived most of her early life.

Mrs. Mary Farrar, widow of the late Joseph Farrar, died in Richmond Sunday.

The breaking of a guy rope caused the fall of a derrick at Chestnut Yard, the present terminus of the North Carolina extension, Wednesday afternoon. A colored man named Harston was instantly killed, and the foreman, C. S. Porter, was badly hurt by being struck on the head. His condition is not serious.

Judge D. W. Bolen, of the Circuit Court of Pulaski county, recently granted a charter to the Norfolk and Pulaski Land Company. The principal office to be in Pulaski City, Va., where the principal business is to be transacted. The officers for the first year are as follows: William Ingles, of Radford, president; Robert McClelland, of Roanoke, vice president; L. S. Calfee, of Pulaski, secretary and treasurer. Directors—The above named officers and M. H. Tate, of Chilhowie; W. A. French, of Narrows; M. H. Calfee, of Pulaski; and J. M. Hodges, of Norfolk. This company is largely interested in Lambert's Point property.

A large number of hands are engaged on the foundation for Hotel Bristol, and work will be pushed right along. It will cost from $75,000 to $100,000, and will be the finest hotel in that section.

There is nothing like Dr. Thomas Electric Oil to quickly cure a cold or hoarseness. Written by Mrs. M. J. Fellows, Burr Oak, St. Joseph county, Michigan.

CONDUCTOR FEIGHY ROBBED.

Joseph F. Fewell Arrested, but the Prosecution Withdrawn.

W. F. Feighy, a conductor on the Norfolk and Western, was robbed of $15.10 yesterday, while asleep in his room at Adams' boarding house, on Railroad avenue.

Mr. Feighy came in off the road early yesterday morning, and after taking breakfast went to his room. He was awakened shortly after dinner by Mrs. Adams, who told him that a man named Joseph F. Fewell had been in his room, and on coming out acted very suspiciously. Mr. Feighy examined his clothing and found $15.10 missing.

He at once got out a warrant before Justice Williams, and placed it in the hands of Officer Brown, who, in company with Officer Wolfe, hunted up Fewell and took him before Justice Howerton.

Mr. Feighy appeared as a witness, but could not say who stole the money. He suspected Fewell, however, from what he had heard. Fewell was allowed to make a statement in his own behalf and positively denied the charge, but admitted that he went into Feighy's room through mistake.

Feighy appeared to be much worried about the loss of his money, and not desiring to prosecute the man without result, withdrew the charge, and Fewell was dismissed from custody.

The officers found out later that there is a strong suspicion against Fewell, having discovered where he got a five-dollar bill changed, although he was known to have no money previous to the time of the robbery. He was seen at other places spending money, and apparently having a great time.

Fewell bears a bad reputation, and is known as a regular beat. He is employed as a train hand on the Norfolk and Western. The boarders at Adams' are all indignant over the affair, and even his step-father, who boars there, says Fewell stole the money beyond a doubt.

The E. H. Stewart Furniture Company.

The charter of the E. H. Stewart Furniture Company was admitted to record in the office of the clerk of the Hustings Court yesterday. The object of the company is to manufacture and sell furniture. Roanoke is to be the principal place of business, and the capital stock is to be not less than $50,000, nor more than $100,000, divided into shares of $100. The officers of the company for the first year: E. H. Stewart, president; T. I. Brown, vice-president; S. L. Spiggle, secretary and treasurer. Directors, E. H. Stewart, A. J. Palmer, T. E. Brown, S. England Dismissed.
